IN MEMORY OF

In loving memory of Myrtle McCormick Guill, who passed away January 29, 1968.

Nothing is the same since you have gone away.
We miss your loving smile and tender care.
That lasted not just a while, but every day of every year.
Loving memories never die, as days roll on and years go by.
Deep in our hearts those memories are kept, for the one we loved and will never forget.
Sadly missed by husband, children, and grandchildren.

ROCKS

January 23 - Ice storms and freezing rain again last Tuesday and caused schools to close for a few days and many were without electricity Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

Lawrence Lee Stewart, Sr., of Evergreen died last Monday morning in Richmond. The funeral was held at Robinson Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. A. M. Taylor with burial in the Evergreen Cemetery. A good number attended. Sympathy is extended the family.

Otis Ranson entered Lynchburg General Hospital on last Tuesday. A speedy recovery is wished him.

Sympathy is extended Kenneth St. John of Evergreen in the loss of his mother, Mrs. Nannie St. John, who died Tuesday at a Pamplin Rest Home. A number attended the funeral on Wednesday afternoon.

School children really enjoying sleigh riding. They went back to school on Thursday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Taylor left Thursday for South Carolina to perform a wedding Friday night. They returned Saturday.

The Rocks Extension Home Makers Club will meet with Mrs. Rachel Ranson on February 2nd at 7:30 p.m.

Congratulation to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hamlin, who celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary on Monday.

Otis Ranson will undergo surgery at Lynchburg General Hospital today Monday in the afternoon. Our prayers and get well wishes go with him.

The tobacco market reopened on Tuesday with higher sales prices. Maybe the space reservation system helped after such traffic problem at first of the season.

A very sad gloom was cast over our community last Thursday when news came that our beloved friend, Mrs. Bettie Ranson passed away at her home after a short illness. Our sympathy is extended this family.

The men did a wonderful job on Sunday on Men's Day. We appreciate them so much, as well as the ladies. The music added so much to the service. The attendance was very good. 20 men out for breakfast Sunday.

Amy Morris was quite sick on Sunday. Hope she may soon be well.

Glad to hear Mrs. Walter Payne of Pamplin is back home from Southside Hospital.

Effect Of Energy Problem On Agriculture

CHARLOTTESVILLE - The effects of the energy problem on Virginia agriculture will be the subject of a conference set at the Ramada Inn, U. S. 29 North, Feb. 21-22, here.

Sponsored by the Extension Division of Virginia Tech in cooperation with the Virginia Agribusiness Council, and the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation, the meeting will focus on primary alternative sources of energy and the problems and potentials of each.

American agriculture is very energy-intensive, said Paxton Marshall, extension public policy specialist at Tech. The energy budget for the whole of the nation's agriculture is about 4 per cent of the total.

But, having replaced manpower with technology over many years, agriculture is very dependent on a continuing supply of energy is usable forms. This Forum on the Future of Virginia Agriculture will address some of the problem areas.

Its objective is to provide useful and practical information so those attending may better understand the issues connected with assuring continuing energy supplies, said Marshall.

Among speakers for the event will be: Bill Brier, National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, Washington, D. C.; Thomas E. Cahill, Peabody Coal Company, Evansville, Indiana; Thomas G. Williamson, Department of Nuclear Engineering and Engineering Physics, University of Virginia; Donald G. Lerch, Jr., of Lerch and Co., consultant; John H. Berry, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture; and Louis R.Lawson, Jr., State Energy Office, Richmond.

For further information, contact your local extension office. The telephone number is 352-8244.

Labor Reform?

The so-called Labor Reform Bill, now being considered in Congress, seems to be, in reality, a push by Big Labor to gain new members.

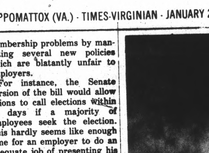
Union membership has been decreasing steadily over the past several years, so it's not surprising that union leaders would want to do something about this. But the Labor Reform Bill (S. 1883 - H. R. 8410) tries to solve Labor's membership problems by mandating several new policies which are blatantly unfair to employers.

For instance, the Senate version of the bill would allow unions to call elections within 15 days if a majority of employees seek the election. This hardly seems like enough time for an employer to do an adequate job of presenting his side of the story. The bill would also allow union organizers to talk to employees about the union on company property during company time, if the employer has done so. Unions are already allowed to contact employees at their homes, but employers are forbidden to do this. This prohibition would remain.

The bill also has disturbing punitive provisions. The most disturbing is one which states that employees who willfully violate a National Labor Relations Board order would be prohibited from obtaining federal contracts for up to three years. That is an extremely stiff penalty. It would put many firms out of business, which doesn't even make sense from the union's point of view.

Another provision says that if NERB finds that an employer has refused to bargain in good faith for a particular period, it can impose mandatory wage rates on the employer for that period. The wage rates will be based on the average wages paid to bargaining units of 5,000 or more employees-in other words, large firms. The National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB), with a membership of more than 525,000 small businesses around the country, has noted that this provision would work a great hardship on small businesses, since their wages are normally much lower than big business wages. It would also directly involve the federal government in setting wage rates in the private sector, something that has been carefully avoided in the 42-year history of labor law.

A third provision requires the NLRB to seek an immediate court-ordered reinstatement of any employee believed to be illegally discharged during a union organizing campaign, until the NLRB has time to make a final decision on the merits of the case. This means an employer may be forced to temporarily rehire employees who have been fired for good cause. The senate version of the bill adds that illegally fired employees must be reinstated



The Shifflett Family

VERA CHURCH OF GOD TO HAVE GOSPEL SING

The Vera Church of God, located 6 miles east of Appomattox on Route 24 in Vera, will have a special program of Gospel Music featuring The Shifflett Family of Elkton, Virginia.

The family has a daughter five years of age who knows about 200 songs by heart. The husband is totally disabled and singing gospel music is their only means of making a living.

We believe this family will really be a blessing to you if you come out and support them. There will be no admission charge, however, a love offering will be received for the family.

The ladies auxiliary of the church will be selling hot dogs, homemade pie, and drinks after the singing program to help raise money for the building fund. Everyone is invited to come on February 4th, Saturday night, at 7:30 p.m. and enjoy an evening of the best in Gospel Music.

If the Labor Reform Bill passes, it could easily have the effect of making employers throw up their hands and allow unionization of their firms, whether their employees want it or not, just to avoid these unreasonable penalties. This, of course, would increase union membership. And this is what Big Labor wants.
